

HOUSING RESOURCES COMMITTEE

March 15, 1968

Mr. George L. Aldridge, Director
Community Improvement Program Division
Planning Department
City of Atlanta

Dear George:

Recently Dan Sweat has suggested that I get in touch with you relative to reanalyzing the City's low-income housing goals of 16,800 units by end of 1971 (with 9,800 units by end of 1968), in light of recent developments with respect to the Bedford-Pine Urban Renewal Project and the Model Cities area.

In as much as future development in both of those areas will be under direct control of the Housing Authority and the City on a pre-established time schedule, it appears that perhaps the requirements for those two areas should now be broken down and separated from the overall requirements for the remainder of the City, for which the Housing Resources Committee will have more direct responsibility.

I have discussed this matter with Cecil Alexander who agrees with the foregoing premise, but feels that since the initial goals were based on determinations of the CIP, that any revision or modifications of those figures should more properly be determined by your office, than by this Committee.

Request that your staff consider this matter and prepare as soon as practicable revised breakdown of current requirements for the Bedford-Pine Urban Renewal Project, the Model Cities area and the remainder of the City. I will be glad to work with you at any time on such revision of the existing figures as may be appropriate.

Sincerely,

Malcolm D. Jones
Housing Coordinator

cc: ✓ Mr. Dan E. Sweat, Jr.
Mr. Cecil A. Alexander
Mr. Collier B. Gladin
Mr. Johnny C. Johnson (Model Cities)