

Dear Mr. Allen:

You should be ashamed of yourself to make the statement you made on television a few days ago. I am shocked beyond words you would publicly say such a thing about a man running and WON in the Democratic primary. Mr. Maddox was right when he said "Did he really make this statement?" "It sounds like one King would have made" and it did, Mr. Allen. There are many things Mr. M. could have said about you, but he was more a gentleman than you were. You are not so well liked even by negroes, to say nothing about how disliked you are by the whites. If you were a politician, I might have expected you to make such a statement, but you are FAR from a politician - just a public servant for liberal Atlanta. Lets face facts, you have sold you city down the river - sold out to the liberals, both white and negro. This won't do you any good, Mr. Allen.

Now about your going fishing on election day; that sounds just like a negro, don't say that anymore. Just keep your mouth shut if you can't say something nice about the man. It proved to you that Georgia is still a conservative state. Where has old McGill, Patterson and Miss B. Lane got to go now? In a hole I hope.

Kelsey Rigdon