Dear Dan:

According to the doctor, I'm still pretty sick. I haven't progressed attall, and it appears that I won't be well for at the very least a couple weeks, probably longer.

Therefore, it appears that I probably won't be able to make it back to Atlanta, for even when I'm well I won't be able to resume my activities in earnest for a while. This has disappointed me considerably, since I expected it to last just a couple weeks.

I hope that you can arrange for the completion of my evaluation. Two possible methods would be having Tom Bello do what he could and having the kids in the neighborhood service centers submit individual reports. I came to some tentative conclusions by talking to people in the various agencies (assuming that what they told me was true). I will have Raymond send me my notes so that I can have something for you to work with. I don't know when I can have them ready for you, however, because the illness has me pretty much debilitated mentally -- I've been flat on my back doing nothing.

If, by some fluke, I should regain my sparkle in the near future, I will let you know. Otherwise, I am sincerely sorry for the inconvenience I have caused you.

Best regards,

Mannie Berk
